The Official Federal Document for Air Travel

Since January 2021, the U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT) requires a standardized form for all Service Dogs flying on airlines operating within, to, or from the United States. The DOT Service Animal Air Transportation Form is the only documentation airlines are federally permitted to ask for to verify your dog's eligibility to fly in the cabin free of charge.

This downloadable PDF template is formatted to meet strict federal standards and is accepted by all major airlines (including Delta, United, American Airlines, Southwest, and JetBlue).

Why Is This Form Mandatory?

- Universal Requirement: This form replaced all previous airline-specific forms and doctor's letters. Whether you are flying domestic or international to the U.S., you must present this document.
- Self-Certification: By signing this form, you legally attest to the airline that your dog is:
  1. Vaccinated (Rabies).
  2. Trained to perform specific tasks for your disability.
  3. Trained to behave in public (no barking, biting, or lunging).
- Time-Sensitive: Airlines typically require this form to be submitted 48 hours before your flight. Having a clean, fillable PDF ready ensures you don't miss your check-in window.
